STILL WAITING,

Such is the Situation in Buffalo.

Believed in Some Circles of Information,

That the Great Tie-Up Will be Declared off.

Soldiers Still Using Their Deadly Weapons.

Governor Flower Says the Strikers Commenced at the Wrong End to Succeed—Miscellaneous Mention.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The strike situation this morning can be summed up in one word—waiting.

Grand Master Wilkinson, of the trainmen, will be here to-day and Chief Conductor Clark, of the conductors, will be here to-morrow.

Sargent, Sweeney, and Wilkinson will hold a conference to-night, and to-morrow when Clark arrives, another conference between the four executives will take place.

Chief Arthur, of the engineers, is not expected to be present. The result of these conferences will decide the action to be taken.

The belief is growing to-day that this action will be an abandonment of the strike. The plan, it is now said, is to let the strike down easy. The conference will advise peace; Grand Master Sweeney will yield gracefully and the striking switchmen will go back to their places if they can, or will seek work elsewhere.

This is admittedly the critical point of the trouble, however. The firemen are reported to be clamoring for a strike, but Sargent says that no matter if they voted unanimously to strike he would not approve it, if in his judgment, he did not consider it prudent.

And furthermore, however much he may be in favor of going out with the switchmen, the firemen will not do so unless all the other railroad organizations go out. The next 24 hours will probably tell the tale.

The Rochester and Pittsburg men who were expected to go out this morning are still at work. So are the Lackawanna men, though that road had a narrow escape from being tied up yesterday.

It appears that a quantity of freight arrived by steamer marked to go by Lehigh Valley. The agents here tried to play a trick and by changing the marks and bills of lading to send it over the Lackawanna. The latter's men discovered the ruse and promptly refused to handle the freight. The road did not insist on it, so the men are at work to-day.

There were the customary number of small rows in various parts of the disturbed district last night but nothing of a serious nature occurred.

There was shooting all along the front from the Ohio street trestle to the Tifft farm. Out on Seneca street a good many shots were fired and many more on the Tifft farm. So far as learned they were for the usual causes—night breakers throwing bricks or mysterious forms scudding through the darkness.

Between 12:30 and 1 o'clock this morning a striker was shot by a soldier at the Hamburg street crossing of the Lehigh Valley. The Emergency hospital was notified and he was removed thither in an ambulance. He gave his name as Wm. Morgan and said his home was at No. Seneca street.

The story he told was that he was walking along Hamburg street when he was challenged by a soldier. He stopped and had some words with him—"or talked a long while," as Morgan put it, and then started to walk off, whereupon, so Morgan alleges, the sentry fired five times at him. Only one took effect. It entered the calf of his right leg. The physicians could not find the ball on their first examination this morning. Morgan also suffered a slight scalp wound, which he said was inflicted by the soldier with the butt of his gun. At 2 o'clock the physicians reported that they had just finished dressing his wounds and that his condition was not very serious. The name of the soldier who had the encounter has not been learned. Neither has his side of the story been obtained. It was very dark where the affair took place and Morgan says he could not distinguish the features of the soldier.

At 10:30 last night Wm. Robbins, of Erie, Pa., was struck behind the ear with a slungshot in the hands of Pat Dealey, the ex-base ball catcher. Dealey is now a car washer in the Conral carhouse and it is supposed he spotted the stranger as a "blackleg," who was here to take the place of a striker. Robbins was taken to the hospital and it quite seriously injured. In his satchel which he carried when he was struck was found clothing such as railroad workmen wear. Dealey was arrested.

A proposition was made to the sheriff last night on behalf of the strikers. It is that the sheriff swear in 400 of the striking switchmen as deputies, each man to bring a certificate from Master Moriarity, of the local lodge of switchmen, that he is a responsible person and can be depended on. The sheriff made an appointment to meet the committee again to-day. The strikers want the troops withdrawn, and they promise in return that they will guarantee the safety of the railroad property and will not go into the yards, but patrol the streets adjoining and keep outsiders from making trouble.

Gen. Porter and Capt. Luscombe, of the Thirteenth regiment, were conversing yesterday when the subject came up of several men whose positions had been taken away from them as a result of their absence from civilian duties. Said Gen. Porter: "This matter must be looked into carefully and the men must not suffer."

An instance was cited where a man held a position as teller in one of the New York banks and notice had been sent him that his place had been filled. Gen. Porter and Capt. Luscombe expressed great indignation over the fact that action of this sort should be taken. General Porter said so far the instances were not numerous and in every case the employers would be urged to take the honorable and magnanimous course.

STRAY GOSSIP

Picked Up by Bee Reporters in the City of Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 23.—There will be no courtmartial in the case of Private Jackson, of the Seventy-fourth regiment, who is said to have been disrespectful to Inspector General McGrath in refusing to give up his seat ina car on Sunday. Gen. Doyle said this morning that no report had been officially made to him and consequently there could be no courtmartial. He said that the affair probably amounted to nothing beyond a petty squabble and that all the big talk had grown out of a very small disturbance.

Judge Robertson, of the state board of arbitration, said this morning that there was no formal conference of the board with Messrs. Sweeney and Sargent last evening.

"These gentlemen were in our room," said Judge Robertson, "but strike matters were not discussed. The state board cannot begin an investigation while matters are so uncertain and mixed."

Grand Master Sargent said this morning that word had been received from Grand Master Clark, of the Brotherhood of Conductors, and Grand Master Wilkinson, of the Trainmen, that they would be here to-day or early to-morrow. No word has been received from Chief Arthur whether he would attend the conference or not. Many express the belief that he will not, but will send a communication of some sort.

"Mr. Sargent," asked the reporter, "should the conference of the executive heads of the various brotherhoods decide upon a general tie-up, would it be declared at once?"

"No," he replied. "It would take several days before such a decision could be reached. It would have to go through the regular form of being presented to the grievance committees of the brotherhoods and by them referred back to the local branches of the various orders after full discussion."

"But it is claimed that the firemen have no grievance."

"That may be so as firemen, but the cause of the switchmen could be made a cause if the executive heads of all the brotherhoods should decide to make it so. Mind you, I don't predict a general strike. In my own mind I have an idea as to what will happen at that conference which I cannot consistently make public now. We shall decide whether or not to act together and make the cause of the switchmen as a basis of a general strike."

"Many believe that the world's fair year will be the most propitious time for a general strike."

"No matter what may happen this year, we will have enough to do next year," replied Mr. Sargent.

Later in the morning a body of firemen numbering a dozen or fifteen called on Mr. Sargent and were in close conference with him for some time. It is stated that they were a committee of the local firemen delegated to inform Mr. Sargent of the result of last night's meeting, and that their plan is to make the grievance of the switchmen the firemen's grievance to strike.

More Men Go Out.

Buffalo, Aug. 23.—At 1:30 p. m. the D., L. & W. switchmen struck because they were ordered to handle freight from tied-up roads. One hundred and twenty-five men are out.

WILL NOT REGISTER.

John Chinaman to Defy Uncle Sam's Laws.

He Refuses to Take Out a Certificate of Residence and Will Go Into the Courts.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Sam Moy, who is prominent in the Chinese colony here, surprised government officials yesterday afternoon by informing them that orders had been received from China not to obey the law requiring Chinese residents to take out certificates of residence. He said the government of China had sent one of its officials to this country to fight the law in the courts.

This minister from the Chinese court was in Chicago ten days ago, he said, and had informed him and others of the wishes of the Chinese government. The representatives from the celestial empire had gone to Washington to secure the best legal talent to be had and the law would be tested in the United States supreme court. A test case would be made of the arrest of some Chinaman in Detroit, where they were held on the charge of violating the exclusion law passed by the present congress. In this way the exclusion act and the provision compelling Chinamen to take out certificates of residence would be tested together. Until a decision was rendered he said, no Chinaman in Chicago would take out a certificate.

WAS FORGED PAPER.

Half a Million of Worthless Notes.

John Huntington Sends a Sworn Statement That He Did Not Sign the Documents.

Cleveland, O., Aug 23.—There seems now no doubt that half a million dollars of suspected paper recently issued by Paige, Carey & Co., of New York, is fraudulent.

Mr. Johnson Huntington, the Cleveland millionaire, who has been having a hand-to-hand fight with death in Europe many months past, has sent his sworn statement to Cleveland declaring the use of his name upon the notes in indorsement to be forgeries.

His statement is a deposition in the case begun on a note for $5,000 by the Cardington bank, of Cardington, Ohio, and was taken in Dresden, Germany, before United States Consul Palmer by Henry Ranney, Esq., of this city, Mr. Huntington's attorney.

Mr. Huntington states emphatically that the use of his name on the Cardington note is a forgery and that he has not indorsed any paper for Paige, Carey & Co., since 1890, with the exception of three sets of notes issued to take up others to which he had previously put his name.

TO SMOKE THEM OUT.

A New Move to be Made in Tennessee.

Believed That Many of the Leaders Have Taken Up Headquarters in the Mines.

Coal Creek, Tenn., Aug. 23.—A sensation was created here last night by the statement that the authorities have determined to smoke the mines and thus drive out the miners who are believed to be hiding in them.

It has been suspected for some time that several of the much-wanted leaders of the rioters had found shelter in the mines where they have been comparatively safe from pursuit, as it would be folly for the soldiers to attemp to find them.

The subject of trying to smoke them out has been discussed for some days, and the statement is authoratively made that it has been decided to take such action.

'TWAS FALSE ALARM.

Torpedoes Make the People Think a Battle Had Occurred.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The report that the strikers came in collision with Company K of the Twelfth regiment at midnight last night is denied by Col. Fox, the officer in charge. Col. Fox told a representative of the United Press this morning that the supposed firing on the strikers by the troops was caused by the explosion of over 500 torpedoes which the strikers had placed on the tracks at short distances and were exploded by a passing train.

GOV. FLOWER

He Thinks the Strikers Should Have Called in the Court.

New York, Aug. 23.—A special to the World from Utica says that Gov. Flower stopped there on his way to Albany, and referring to the strike, said:

"I am inclined to think that the strikers made a bad move at the beginning. If they had gone to work and had the president of the Central arrested for violating one of the laws of the state they could have had him convicted and fined $500 or imprisonment for one year.

"Last winter the legislature passed a law making it obligatory for railroad companies to give a day's pay for ten hours and to pay extra for all over that. I signed the bill and the strikers had a good chance to make a test case. Why did they not do that? If they had done so I think they would have won their case."

LOOKS TROUBLESOME.

Telegraphers Think They Will Be Called on to Strike.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Local members of the order of Railway Telegraphers expect their organization will be involved in the Buffalo strike. Said a member of prominence last evening:

"The operators on the Lackawanna road have a grievance of their own. They want more money and fewer hours to constitute a day's work. Almost precisely the same conditions exist on the Erie road. The Vanderbilt roads pay about the average wages, but the hours of labor are the same as on other roads.

"The adjustment of these differences is likely to result in a strike, because in all the preliminary negotiations the railroad officials have evinced a disposition to ignore the order and its claims. A strike would involve all the telegraph operators in the employ of the Vanderbilt system, the Lackawanna and the Lehigh.

"It is a conviction of long standing that 12 hours a day at an average salary of less than $60 a month is a just grievance.

SAMUEL GOMPERS.

He Thinks the Strike May Spread All Over the West.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is in Chicago. "I was at Homestead during the strike," he said last evening, "and was there again only a few days ago, and I can say truthfully that the men will come out best in the end. The Carnegie company is making a great show of doing business, but practically it is doing nothing. The only way the end may be averted is that Carnegie may close his mighty plant, which I do not think is probable..

"In relation to the trouble in Tennessee," said Mr. Gompers, "that strike will deal the death blow of the convict lease system, just as the Homestead strike dealt the deathblow to Pinkertonism.

"I am heartily in sympathy with the miners. I have seen the men shot down like dogs.

"The strike at Buffalo I am not so familiar with, though I have just come through there and stopped off a day. I am very much afraid the strike will spread all over the country. It is now the calm before the storm.

"No one can tell exactly what may happen, but I am afraid the storm will burst over Chicago and the entire west in a few days. The firemen will co-operate with the switchmen and also the brotherhood of trainmen if necessary. If they do then the railroads will be forced to give in."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Continuation of the Kansas City Meeting.

A Grand Parade of Uniformed Members.

Reports of Officers and General Work of Interest to This Thriving Order.

Kansas City, Aug. 23.—The second day of the encampment of the Knights of Pythias opened this morning with a grand reception to the members of the supreme lodge at the Grand Opera house. Mayor Cowherd, Gov. D. R. Francis and Maj. William Warner delivered addresses of welcome, and Supreme Chancellor George B. Shaw responded on behalf of the order.

The arrangements for the great parade were completed last night, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon the different divisions began to form, but it was after 4 before the line began to move.

There were 15,000 knights in full uniform and 75 bands of music in line when the order to march was given, and, with the possible exception of the pageant of the Knights Templar at Denver two weeks ago, the spectacle was by far the most brilliant ever witnessed west of the Mississippi river.

This evening at the Exposition Driving park an elaborate pyrotechnic display will be given, the principal feature of which will be several set pieces representing the emblems of the order. This display will be repeated later in the week, the aggregate cost of the fireworks for the two nights being over $10,000.

The supreme lodge of the sisterhood had its first meeting yesterday afternoon. Supreme Chancellor, Mrs. A. A. Young, of Concord, presided. All the other supreme officers were present as follows: Mrs. Burley, of Portland, Me. past supreme chancellor; Mrs. G. W. Benies, Worcester, Mass., supreme vice chancellor; Mrs. J. W. Bruce, Manchester, N. H., mistress of records and seal; Mrs. L. A. Small, Farmington, N. H., mistress of exchequer; Mrs. A. Humphrey, Brooklyn, supreme mistress-at-arms; Mrs. M. Levy, New York, assistant supreme recorder; Mrs. Van Work, Jersey City, inner guard; Mrs. M. Morrison, Elizabeth, N. J., supreme outer guard.

The report of the officers of the endowment rank, Knights of Pythias, to be presented to the supreme lodge, states that on July 1, 1892, there were 1,417 active sections, 29,405 members, and the endowment in force was $62,852,000, showing an increase of 500 sections, 8,000 members, and $17,000,000 endowment in the two years preceding. The resources of the rank, June 30, were: Balance, cash on hand, endowment rank depository, $69,138.00. Assessments due in process of collection, $15,457. Accrued interest, $3,266. Total, $87,861.

The liability representing death losses accruing before July 1, is shown in the following: In litigation, $23,000,000. In process of adjustment, $53,000,000. Proofs in process of completion, 111,000,000.

"While the above figures" says the report, "represent the actual financial status of the rank on July 1, 1892, in which is charged the entire death loss that accrued prior to and including the month of June, the continuant income, or resources, are more than ample to meet all maturing claims."

The board recommends that the City National bank of Fort Worth, be continued as the rank's depository. It recommends further the present constitution of the rank be thoroughly revised and amended; so as to reduce the maximum limit, and providing that the rank be not liable in the event of the suicide of members.

LESLIE AND HER WILDE.

He Will Probably Not Return to America for Some Time—Pleasant Trip.

New York, Aug. 23.—In a very fetching Paris dinner gown, and with lots of enthusiasm, Mrs. Frank Leslie, who returned from a three-months' vacation on the continent, received innumerable callers at the Gerlach. Miss Nettie Hooper, the daughter of the American vice consul at Paris, engaged the stateroom on the French steamer La Bretagne which she and Mrs. Leslie occupied on the way over, so that Mrs. Leslie's name did not appear at all on the list, and in consequence she seemed surprised that her advent had so readily become known. Having been found out, she was frankness personified.

"I have had a good vacation," said Mrs. Leslie, "and have come back to work, and you can not imagine how glad I am to be back in America," this with an expressive gesture of satisfaction.

"Mr. Wilde did not return with you?"

"No, Mr. Wilde's health is not good. The climate of America seems too stimulating for him, so he remains on the other side. He is a sufferer from stomach and liver complaints, and thought the journey too risky to attempt."

In talking of Mr. Wilde, Mrs. Leslie became sedate, and, after a minute's thought, said impulsively: "I don't know why it is, but the American public seems to think that I married a baby in a perambulator. I did not. Mr. Wilde is the oldest of his father's children, a man of commanding presence, with several gray hairs in his beard and a scholarly stoop. He is by no means a child."

Here Mrs. Leslie stopped a minute and then added: "If I married happily, all right. If I should have married unhappily, why should there be any comments? I would, in that case, not have been the first woman who had blundered." Then, as though she thought the line of conversation bordering on personalities, Mrs. Leslie said: "I suppose all the criticism is due to the fact that I married a foreigner." And, with ready tact, the subject was changed.

"Although the weather encountered by the Bretagne was horrible we had one interesting incident," continued Mrs. Leslie. There was an impromptu entertainment on board ship Saturday, in which not one of the many Americans on board took part for patriotic reasons. Somehow the officers of the ship did not take any interest in the matter. I was asked by some passengers to aid the matter, but declined, unless asked officially, that is, by the master or the purser of the ship. Failing such an invitation I refused. Mr. Edward Lauterbach, of the firm of Lauterbach & Hoadly, sided with me in the matter. So far as we could learn the proceeds of the entertainment were not to go to any American sailors' institution, or to be even divided among the crew, and that fact and the absence of any official invitation caused all the Americans to hold aloof. There was quite a good deal of national feeling aroused over the matter, but I think the Americans were right."

When asked if Mr. Wilde intended coming to America, Mrs. Leslie said: "I think not."

"Shall you stay here any length of time?"

"Oh, yes. I am home for an indefinite period. I am going to work," and Mrs. Leslie tightly closed a heavily-diamonded hand just as though she intended to help finish the Third Avenue cable road.

TO ROB AN ARMORY.

Guns Seem to Be In Good Demand in Pennsylvania.

Pittsburg, Aug. 23.—Col. Norman M. Smith, of the Eighteenth regiment, last night asked for detectives to guard the regiment armory which is situated in the heart of the city.

Col. Smith says that on last Wednesday night an attack was made on the armory hall by some men with the purpose of securing the arms stored there.

Last night the windows were broken and Col. Smith decided to call for police protection. A force has been detailed to guard the approaches to the armory.

TO PUSH THE CANAL.

Canada to Protect Her Vessel Interests.

Comment of the Press on the Recent Proclamation by President Harrison.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 23.—Referring to President Harrison's proclamation imposing a toll on vessels passing through the Sault Ste. Marie canal, the Empire (government organ) says:

"The spirit in which the present action is taken is certainly an unfriendly one, and will not tend to increase cordiality of feeling between the two countries. We doubt whether public opinion in Canada will approve of any further concession in this matter in order to secure an amicable arrangement with a country which seems to have as little regard for internal comity as for solemn treaty engagements. There will be a tendency to think that the government ought, in a dignified manner, to hold on to the course they have announced, even if they have for the balance of the season to make some kind of an arrangement to reimburse the Canadian shippers who have entered into contracts which this 'retaliation' will disarrange, rather than yield to the suggestion now made."

The Globe (liberal) says: "An attempt to strike this blow at Canadian commerce is warranted neither by the present attitude of our ministers nor by the whole course of international dealing with reference to canals and waterways. Canada's expenditure under this head has been vastly greater than that of her neighbor. She has borne far more than her fair share of the cost of completing the noble system of navigation from the northwest to the Atlantic, with the single exception of the rebate, if that be an exception. She has thrown her canals open to Americans and Canadians upon equal terms, while her shippers have enjoyed no benefit whatever from the American state canals. It would be folly to deny that the step which is to be taken will hurt an important Canadian interest, but to make any further concessions in the face of this threat would be too great a sacrifice of our dignity and self-respect."

The Mail (independent) says: "No doubt an intimation from the Ottawa government that next year the rebate would surely go determined the president not to resort to any extreme policy. As it is the United States simply meets our toll with a like toll. As the American toll is low, and does not come into operation until the first of next month, it will not be a very serious matter; and, as it will go off altogether when our rebate ceases, as cease it will at the end of this season, it need not trouble us much. The difficulty in the shape it has assumed is happily not going to lead to reprisals and to ill-feeling."

The World (conservative) says: "The president of the United States has at the order of congress, closed the Sault Ste. Marie canal to Canadian vessels. Our ships must pay a toll of 20 cents a ton. We accept the penalty. While we have to pay it we will. We accept this hostile legislation as the warmest tribute our neighbor rivals can pay us. It is their testimony that Canada is a nation on this North American continent. It is the beginning of our career as a great people. Thank God, Canada can live without the United States. Thank God, we have proved it more than once, and can prove it again. Thank God, national honor is a term still to be found in the Canadian dictionary. This canal question will settle itself in time, as other questions have been settled; but one lasting effect of it will be that it played its share in teaching the Canadians that they could live without the United States. That lesson learned, and we are the equals of any nation on the American continent."

The Canadian Canal to be Rushed.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 23.—Hon. John Haggert, minister of railways and canals, has issued orders to the contractors of the canal of the Canadian "Soo" to rush the work through to completion without a moment's delay. An increased number of men will be engaged, and work maintained summer and winter until the job is finished.

The members of the government in town continue to discuss the canal tolls dispute. Thus far no cabinet meeting has been called, but intelligence is hourly expected from Premier Abbott. The impression prevails that the government will not recede from its position, but will continue the rebate system until the end of the season.

IN THE EIGHTEENTH

A Score of Democrats Want a Chance to Run for Congress.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 22.—A call has been issued for the democratic congressional convention of the Eighteenth district to be held at Alliance on Tuesday, Sept. 6, and the indications are that it will be the liveliest ever held in this section of the state.

At the present time there are eleven candidates in the field for the honor of meeting in the political arena. Morgan of Alliance is the republican candidate. Mahoning county will present two candidates, Sam Phipp of this city and Dr. A. W. Schiller of North Lima. Mr. Phipp is a well-known hustler, having for years been a commercial traveler, known in every section of the state, and until his retirement recently to engage in politics, was a member of a grocery firm in eastern Ohio. He is an active worker and is pushing his candidacy with a vigor that will result in his developing great strength as a candidate in the convention. Dr. Schiller is a prominent physician of the county with a reputation for integrity and ability that will bring to his aid a large and enthusiastic support.

Columbiana county has four candidates, each striving to secure the county delegation and sufficient support from the other counties to obtain the coveted prize. Dr. J. J. Ikert, a wealthy resident of East Liverpool, who ran against McKinley, has a large following in his own county that would be pleased over his nomination. C. N. Schanick of Leetonia is also in the field. He is a well-known iron man and will bring to his aid a large support.

A. W. Taylor, elected solicitor of Salem in the face of a large republican majority, is actively engaged in pushing his candidacy for congress. W. S. Potts of New Lisbon, one of the oldest democratic editors in the county, connected with the Ohio Patriot for many years and who was elected prosecuting attorney, overcoming a republican majority of 2,200, is among the leading candidates.

Stark county, which is achieving the reputation of securing everything, will present five candidates on the first ballot and probably unite on one on the second in the hope of, by this scheme, capturing the nomination for some favored son of Molly Stark.

Hon. Anthony Howells and John McBride, both of Massillon; John C. Westy of Canton, B. F. Weybrecht and W. B. Excell of Alliance, compose the quintet that will be presented to the convention from Stark county. All have been prominent in the councils of the party and are deserving of its highest rewards.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 23.—At Columbia City James Gray was shot through a window while lying in bed. At 11 o'clock at night the assassin approached the window and fired at what he supposed was the head of the bed, but fortunately Mr. Gray had turned the bed about and the shot struck him in the leg, shattering it so as to necessitate amputation. Albert Tucker, who held a grudge against Gray for giving his (Tucker's) wife a home, was arrested for the crime, but denies guilt. But for Gray having changed position he would have been instantly killed.

YOUNG WOMAN DROWNED.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 23.—While Miss Clara Shelby was boating on Eagle Lake, at Warsaw, with a gentleman friend, the boat was overturned and both fell into the water. The young man made adesperate effort to keep Miss Shelby afloat, but became exhausted and was obliged to release her and she went to the bottom. Her body has not been recovered.

GERMAN VETERANS.

Close of the Meeting in Kansas City.

The Association in Good Shape and Gaining Members At a Very Rapid Rate.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 23.—This is the closing day of the reunion of the German Veteran association of North America, and the officers and members are well pleased with the work that has been done and enthusiasm that has been aroused.

The membership has been increased greatly and the indications are that the next annual reunion will be attended by fully double the number that are now here.

The festivities were concluded to-day and to-night the prizes and awards for shooting and athletic performances will be given, during the grand ball, which is to close the meeting.

The business session to-day is of the most interest of any of the reunion from the fact that the officers for the ensuing year are to be elected and the place for the next meeting to be chosen.

The morning session was uneventful, being passed in discussion of various matters pertaining to the good of the association and preparing for the election which is to take place this afternoon.

An extra effort is to be made by all members of the association to increase the membership, and all veterans of the German army who have their honorable discharge therefrom are invited to join as soon as possible in order to make the association a strong one throughout the United States.

Great preparations have been made for the grand ball, which is to take place to-night, after which the members will probably be ready to depart on the early morning trains for their homes.

A carriage ride over the city is on the program for to-morrow, but it is probable that very few members of the association will care to remain to take part in it, for they have been seeing the city from the street cars for the last four days and are now ready to go home.

CARGO ON FIRE.

London, Aug. 22.—The British steamer Caradoc, from Oran for New Castle, has put into Southead Roadstead with her cargo burning. It is thought that the vessel will have to be scuttled. The Caradoc is a steamer of 861 tons register, is owned in North Shields and was built 20 years ago.

TO USE CANNON.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Gen. Grant, acting secretary of war, to-day approved the request of Gov. Buchanan of Tennessee for cannon cartridges, shells and canister, and orders were telegraphed to the Rock Island, Ills., arsenal to forward the ammunition immediately.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

Morley to Have a Hard Battle to Fight.

A Man With Means to Stand Against Him—Miscellaneous News.

London, Aug. 23.—The Right Hon. John Morley was nominated at New Castle today for re-election, and the opposition has nominated Mr. Pandeli Ralli, Liberal-Unionist, who made an unsuccessful run at Gateshead in the general election, whre he was beat by Hon. Walter Henry James. Mr. Ralli is well equipped with funds and has a strong support. It is believed that Mr. Morley will have no easy task in obtaining re-election, although the opposition to him is not as confident as a few days ago.

At Derby, Farmer Atkinson was nominated in opposition to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, but there is no doubt of Harcourt's re-election, many of the conservatives refusing to take part in the opposition to him. Most of the other ministers have been re-elected without opposition.

Pierce Mahony, the defeated Parnellite candidate in North Meath, is busily engaged gathering evidence to secure the unseating of Michael Davitt. Mahony claims that Roman Catholic clergymen acted for Davitt, by addresses from the altar during the celebration of mass and by other means threatened loss and injury, temporal and spiritual, and in other ways, on Mahony's supporters.

He has procured evidence showing that the Roman Catholic bishop, Dr. Nulty, has with his clergy, espoused the side of the McCarthyites. Even in the chapels and before benediction the congregation were, it is claimed, treated to political harangues of great length and heat.

Spiritual penalities were hinted at and in most cases openly threatened against voters who favored the Parnellites. The evidence to be presented when parliament reassembles, will, it is said, be very startling.

PROTECT THEIR INTERESTS.

Iron Hall at Baltimore Makes Application for a Receiver.

Baltimore, Aug. 23.—A number of Baltimore members of the Iron Hall combined to-day in an application to place the order in the hands of a receiver, while 16 others sued out attachments to recover on certificates alleged to be due and unpaid. The proceeding is similar to that instituted at Indianapolis and was taken for the purpose of protecting the interests of the Baltimore members. The bill for a receiver was filed in the circuit court through ex-Gov. William Pinckney Whyte and Charles J. Wilder, attorneys. An order was signed by Judge Dennis requiring cause to be shown by August 31, why a receiver should not be appointed, and providing that upon the filing of a bond for $25,000 a preliminary injunction should be granted restraining the officers of the local branches from transmitting any funds of the order in their hands to the supreme officers at Indianapolis, or to any officers or agents of the order outside of the state. Mr. Wiener says the action is the result of that taken in the west, and that the bill and attachments will be dismissed if the court at Indianapolis refuses to appoint a receiver.

FELL FROM A LADDER.

Dalton, O., Aug. 23.—Mr. A. C. Strick, justice of the peace and owner of a tin store here, was quite seriously if not fatally injured while ascending a ladder at his residence. By some means he lost his balance, falling quite a distance to the ground with his back across a large stone. He was picked up and a physician was summoned, who said there were no bones broken but that he was hurt internally.

RACES FOR NOTHING.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The Garfield Park race track management decided to-day to admit the public free of charge, for a time at least, and thereby avoid friction between the club and the police.

GERMAN AMERICANS.

A Very Strong Appeal Issued to Them.

Influential Men Urge Them to Vote the Democratic Ticket This Fall.

New York, Aug. 23.—The German-American union has issued an address signed by Carl Schurz, Oswald Ottendorfer, William Steinway, Henry Villard, Louis Windmuller and Gustav H. Schwab which, after praising Grover Cleveland and giving its reasons, urges all German-Americans to cast their ballots for the democratic candidate.

A PEEP AT THE PUGS.

Immense Throngs Watch Sullivan and Corbett.

Both Men Apparently in Good Shape.

The California Boy Practicing on a 230 Pound Man—General Gossip.

New York, Aug. 23.—There ar eonly a few days between the event which will be a Waterloo to John L. Sullivan or the crowning glory of his career.

Notwithstanding his age—nearly 34 years—the hot pace he has run for the last fifteen years, and the natural effect of approaching middle-age upon his magnificent physique, he is in fine condition. He lacks the elasticity which is an inseparable of youthfulness, still he skips a rope with the agility of a young girl. Judging from how he talks about himself and his obedience to his trainers, he fully appreciates the necessity of being in the pink of condition, although his naive assurance naturally leads him to assume that he has got the "softest thing in his history," as some of his sanguine admirers are in the habit of expressing it.

The champion's stay at Good Ground has been one continual round of adulation. That portion of Long Island has never had so great a lion to admire. Never has he appeared upon the piazza but what from 50 to 100 pairs of eyes were fastened upon him. The champion has become so much accustomed to this adulation that he is surfeited with it. Unless a man of more than ordinary import appears he pays no attention to the many sightseers who come to see him.

Besides, John L. Sullivan cannot by the greatest stretch of fancy be called a good-humored man. His personality is such that most men stand in fear of him. Even his expressions of playfulness are apt to inflict physical pain upon the recipient. Yet thousands of persons pay exorbitant railroad fares and put themselves to great personal inconvenience to see the strong boy from Boston, and would pay almost any price to enjoy the bliss of shaking hands with him. But only a very few enjoy this privilege. At the present time there are at least a dozen men around the inn who weigh 200 pounds or thereabouts. It would be hard to analyze the motives of these big men in coming here, but it is undoubtedly for the purpose of comparing the big fellow with themselves, with the idea of learning where the disparity exists.

As a rule Sullivan is morose. It is only at exceptional times that he becomes good-humored. Here it is that Phil Casey gets in his fine work. He acts as a sort of minister plenipotentiary between the crowds and the pugilist. The women always appeal to Mr. Casey to secure them an introduction to the champion. In his moments leisure he is a very interesting talker. He frequently sits upon the piazza and delivers little impromptu lectures on training, his points always being illustrated by a story. Casey resorts to all kinds of expedients to keep the courage of the champion while he is wading through the sand on the hot, dusty road. For several evenings during the past weeks there have been concerts on the piazza. John has occasionally joined with a few discords which have been respectfully and even admiringly listened to and applauded heartily.

Casey is not making any effort to bring the champion down in weight. It was his intention to reduce him to 200 pounds, but he has given up the idea and is satisfied to keep him as near his fighting weight as possible. John's fighting shoes have arrived. They are made of kangaroo skin and weigh but six ounces apiece. When worn in the ring they will be tied with a waxed end.

Within the past week or so Corbett has shifted the course of his training and has buckled down to steady hard labor. A few days ago Jim Daly, his heavy-weight boxer and training partner, stepped aside and John McVay, the huge Philadelphia wrestler, took his place. The reason of this change was no weakening on the part of Daly, but Corbett's desire to handle a man whose weight would be more equal to that of the big Bostonian. This change has greatly increased the severity of his training, as it requires far more muscle to handle McVay's 230 pounds than Daly's 186.

Your correspondent was with Corbett and his trainers recently, a large portion of a day. As he came upon the grounds McVay and Corbett were wrestling in the hand ball court and a heterogeneous crowd were on the outside peering through the cracks of a high board partition which shuts it in. Under the eye of Trainer William Delaney, the two giants tugged and writhed about the court until they were as wet with perspiration as if they had jumped into the river, clothes and all. They left the court, pushing through the crowd who had been peeping through the cracks, and went into the trim little barn, where the boxer punches the bag. The pugilist stepped up to the leather and sent in volley after volley of such strong, quick, accurate blows, dodging the rebounding bag so simple, that his trainer smiled broadly and suggestively at the knot of spectators.

Corbett has a quick, straight, sharp blow. He probably can hit as hard as Sullivan, but he hits in an altogether different way. He does not swing as Sullivan does, but strikes straight out like a flash, recovering instantly instead of following up the blow with a push. In this way he will get in licks where most men would not get in in the old way. Jim seldom knocks a man over backward; that is not his style. His sharp raps are intended to jar his opponent and daze him.

Corbett considers himself in three times as good shape as when he fought Jackson, and has every confidence in his being the winner.

For so important a fight it is really astonishing to see how very little money bet on the result. This is owing, of course, to the number of people who want to bet their money on Sullivan. Corbett has plenty of admirers who are very anxious to see him win, but they do not think his chances of victory are sufficient to warrant their risking a large amount of money on him, even at the tempting odds Sullivan's backers are offering of $100 to $80, $100 to $60 and even $100 to $50. It is a question if anything short of $100 to $25 would prove sufficient bait to catch the Corbett admirers to put up their money freely. All kinds of odds are being offered, but they get leave to stand, as the takers are few and far between. Even the men who are furnishing the stake money for Corbett are not doing any betting at present. Perhaps men like Phil Dwyer and Ed Kerney have contributed $5,000 and $2,500 respectively toward Corbett's $10,000 stake money feel that they have taken sufficient risk on the bright and promising young Californian, although they may be waiting to do their betting at the ringside after they see a round or two of the fighting and can draw a line on Jim's ability to compete with so formidable an opponent.

Even the hustling Steve Brodie has only succeeded in placing $1,600 of the $10,000 he has set aside to bet on Sullivan. It is said that one enthusiastic admirer of Sullivan by the name of Creigh has made the silly bet of $100 to $1,000 that Sullivan will kill Corbett before he leaves the ring.

George Creed, of this city, who made the combination of $100 against $180 on Godfrey, Jackson and Dixon, is now making a combination on Sullivan, McAuliffe and Dixon.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Emancipation Monument Subscriptions—No Degredation of the Order's Badge.

Boston, Aug. 23.—In general orders No. 10, John Palmer, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., announces the details of the grand parade in Washington next September. The order also says:

"The twenty-fifth national encampment somewhat indefinitely indorsed a scheme for the erection of a monument commemorative of the emancipation. No statistics or prospectus whatever, in connection therewith, have been furnished these headquarters, and as complaints have been made and doubts have arisen, the commander-in-chief advises and directs that no further subscriptions be made for this purpose until such evidence is furnished as will remove all doubts concerning the character and purpose of those in charge of this worthy object and that all posts having given money for this purpose will report the amount to these headquarters.

"A political campaign badge has been placed upon sale, an exact fac-simile of the insignia of our order, except that the photograph of the candidate is inserted in the center. The commander-in-chief not only urges every comrade not to disgrace the order by placing this "thing" upon his breast, but that he will appeal to every man who wears one to take it off, and not to disgrace an insignia of loyalty, which is dear to every union soldier regardles of party."

OUR GAS PLANT.

Manager Heston Makes An Interesting Statement

At the Request of Sinking Fund Trustee Suydam—Meeting of the Trustees Yesterday Afternoon.

Messrs. Voit, Romeis and Barber were the only members of the board of gas trustees present, at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

In the absence of President Greene, who is in Kansas City, Vice President Voit occupied the chair.

The committee on gas supply reported that Sarah Miller makes claim on certain well rentals in Hancock county. Referred to the city solicitor.

Gas Inspector Gaffney offered to supply his own horse and buggy at $10 a month. Accepted.

The committee on gas supply recommended that the large regulator at the Smith Bridge company's works be replaced by a smaller one. Adopted.

The claim of Kerlin Bros., for $1,028 was reported favorably upon by City Solicitor Read.

Mr. Romeis was not satisfied that the bill could legally be allowed.

Mr. Barber agreed in this opinion and the matter was referred to a full board meeting.

The claims of Wm. McMahon were similarly referred.

Mr. Barber reported a leak that had been open on the east side for over a year and the same was referred to the manager.

A letter was read from Mr. F. B. Suydam, a member of the board of sinking fund trustees, seeking information on the condition of the city gas department.

The following reply drafted by Manager Heston will prove interesting reading:

Toledo, August 20, 1892.

"Mr. F. B. Suydam, Toledo.

"Dear sir: Your favor of the 18th received and inquiries thereon in regard to city natural gas plant noted.

The cost of the city gas plant up to December 31, 1891, was	$1,181,743 36
Natural gas bonds were issued therefor to the amount of	750,000 00
Cost of plant over face of bonds	431,743 36

August 1, 1892, the indebtedness of the department was as follows:

Amount due contractors and material men	$ 280,628 78
Amount due holders of advanced payment receipts which are redeemable in gas	27,124 70
Total	$ 307,753 48
There was received from parties to whom advanced payment receipts were issued	$ 67,046 02
Amount of above outstanding August 1, 1892	27,124 70
Total amount of advanced payment receipts which have been redeemed to August 1, 1892	39,921 32

July 1, 1892, the number of contracts in force was 5,569, covering over 10,000 mixers.

The amount of gas sold in December, 1891, was	20,032 30
The amount of gas sold in July, 1892, was	10,221 73

From the above you will see the average income for the winter and summer months.

The amount of gas sold to August 1, 1892, was	$ 167,899 32

"This income has been used, except the $20,000 now in the treasury for cancelling advanced payment receipts to amount above named (about $40,000), paying current expenses, resulting in the reduction of over $100,000 in the indebtedness of the department. The income can, of course, be increased by increasing the present rate to whatever limit gas trustees may determine.

This department is now supplying gas at the exremely low rate of 8 cents per 1,000 cubic feet upon contracts the first year of which will expire November 1, 1892.

The committee of citizens appointed by the mayor to investigate and report upon the condition of the city gas plant reported in March, 1892, 45 gas wells belonging to the department as averaging 1,287,000 cubic feet each day of gas, or over 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas at the wells.

"Some way should now be provided for delivery at the city limits, this gas at good pressure; larger lines, more wells of high pressure, or gas pumps are needed.

"Larger lines would require an enormous outlay of money; while the department has now on file an offer of a gas pumping station complete for $24,000.

"More wells can be bought or drilled, if the department had funds at its disposal. Completed wells are offered to the department at low rates.

"The city has over 1,800 acres of gas land in Perry township, Wood county, where the test well already drilled, as reported by the committee above named, showed a rock pressure of 380 pounds. To reach the Perry township gas field would require about eight miles of six or eight inch lines and the drilling of necessary wells. Tiffin is getting some good wells there and is preparing to pipe the gas. With that field connected or with a pumping station, it is my belief that the city can supply all its patrons well.

"Thanking you for your interest in the matter, I remain, respectfully,

"W. P. HESTON, Manager.

IN A GRAVEL PIT.

A Young Man Meets His Death Near Bryn.

Bryn, O., Aug. 23.—(Special)—Milton Stockman was killed in a gravel pit on the Coltrider farm, two miles west of town, yesterday afternoon. Several men were at work in the pit loading gravel when the earth above caved in, covering Stockman entirely up. The other men set to work at once and soon reached him. When found one leg was broken above the knee and he was otherwise injured, so much so that he died shortly afterward.

Stockman was a young man perhaps 28 years of age. His wife died about a year ago. He was an industrious young man, having been on a farm all his life. His friends feel in sympathy with the parents.

GODDARD AND SMITH.

The Former to Stop the Latter in Ten Rounds.

Latest News Concerning the New Orleans Pugs.

General Sporting News Gathered From the Wires for the Benefit of Bee Readers.

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—Joe Goddard and Billy Smith will have a 10-round go before the California Athletic club tonight, the former to knock out the latter or forfeit the fight. Goddard is the Australian who knocked out big Joe McAuliffe in June, and although Smith is not regarded as a strong man, it is the general opinion that Goddard will find it a hard task to stop him in 10 rounds. The contest is for a purse of $1,300, of which $200 goes to the loser.

Nancy Hanks, the new trotting queen, was never beaten by a trotter, and never lost but one heat, the first she ever trotted to Bonnie Wilmore, who has a five-year old record of 2:14 1-2. This race was trotted at Harrodsburg, Ky., July 31, 1889, Nancy Hanks winning heats being 2:27 1-4, 2:25 1-4 and 2:25 1-2.

At Danville, Ky., she defeated Bonnie Wilmore and Abbie V. in straight heats in 2:26 3-4, 2 24 1-2 and 2:29 1-4. September 30, at Richmond, Ind., she trotted in 2:09, and shortly afterward retired for the season.

Thursday, July 7, she made her first public appearance for the season of 1892, at Belmont Park, Philadelphia. She trotted against the track record of Sunol, 2:11 3-4, and defeated it in 2:11 1-4. At Grand Rapids, Mich., August 11, she tied her record, trotting the mile in the middle of the track in 2:09.

Her mile Thursday, in 2:07 1-4, gave her the crown he wears.—Chicago Tribune.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Their Relation Discussed by New York People.

New York, Aug. 23.—A proposition for organized labor to hold a conference to effect the emancipation of workingmen from "capitalistic criminalism, anarchism, oppression and robbery," produced much fiery discussion at the meeting of the Central Labor union yesterday.

Theodore F. Cuno, who introduced the resolution, said workingmen in this country outnumbered the regular army, the militia and the capitalists ten to one and he thought it was time organized labor took steps to prevent the daily slaughter of men who were fighting labor battles to win food for themselves and children.

Following are the resolutions:

Whereas, The development of capitalism in recent years has been such as to make the means at present employed by organized labor inadequate not only for temporary emergencies, but altogether insufficient to accomplish the final emancipation of the laboring classes from wage slavery—

Resolved, That we, the delegates of the New York Central Labor union, herewith invite organized labor in general to participate in a conference to be held in this city on Nov. 14, for the purpose of considering ways and means for organizing the labor movements upon a basis which will bring about our speedy success and deliverance from capitalistic criminalism, anarchism, oppression and robbery.

Resolved, That a special meeting be appointed to draft a call and make all other necessary arrangements for the conference.

TODD AND TAPP.

They Are Having Quite a Time in the Courts.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 23.—The litigation between J. C. Todd and W. J. Tapp, president of the defunct Louisville bagging manufacturing company, has assumed a sensational phase.

Following up these attachments, the Graham Paper company yesterday filed a suit against Tapp in the law and equity court to recover $4,778.48 and also asks the court to set aside the assignment. This suit is on a promissory note dated March 24, 1892, payable four months after date and fraudulent disposition of defendants property is alleged.

CABLE PANTS

This "Whitcomb Riley" style of twisting verses all around,
To illustrate some meaning, or sentiment profound,
Now comes in very handy to describe our PANTS display;

For instance men we've this way. ( ) for bow-legged trousers shaped

And then for men whose legs have that graceful line, the curve,
But who in spite of that defect most certainly deserve
A pair of TROUSERS that will fit, our clerks polite will show

A pair something just the hip (×) shaped something like this from to toe.

Then for the man who prides himself upon his stately limbs,
We've patterns new, and prices right to satisfy his whims,
And when he leaves the store, of course, his heart is filled with bliss,

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 23.—Tip-o-Tip, the bogus Zulu, who has become notorious as a shrewd thief of the unique kind, as arrested here yesterday.

He came here July 3, but got away before he could be nabbed. In the afternoon Officer La Pielle located his man in a boarding house. The officer, laying his hand on his shoulder, said: "I want you."

Tip, with an oath, sprang to his feet. The officer snapped the nippers on him, but the powerful fellow hurled him against the wall and started to run. La Pelle, however, hung on like a bull dog and used his club vigorously in the desperate struggle which ensued.

NOTED BURGLARS ARRESTED.

A suit for breach of promise of marriage was brought against a woman, and decided against her, too, at the assizes, in Chester, England, last week. The plaintiff was a young farmer named Albert Timms, and he sued Miss Mary Birch, a young woman of small fortune. The plaintiff said that for two or three years Miss Birch had "kept him dangling at her heels just to please her vanity, without the slightest intention to redeem her promise to marry him. At the last moment she threw him over in the most heartless fashion. She said she was too good for a farmer's wife." She also insinuated that he was after her money. The young farmer said he wanted to clear his character of these aspersions. The judge said the young man had a real grievance, his letters revealed manly and touching sentiments, and he had been badly treated. The jury gave him $250 damages.

Richard Beverly, who for $250 a year takes the mail from Buena Vista to Pleasant View, in Amherst county, Virginia, carries it the distance of 18 miles on his back. Every day except Sunday, he walks from Buena Vista to Pleasant View and back, a distance of 36 miles, and on Saturdays walks back again to Pleasant View, to be with his family Sunday, that day's walk being 54 miles. He is 50 years of age, six feet three inches high, weighs 160 pounds, and is in perfect health. He has been carrying the mail for two years and three months.

Nancy Hanks was the mother of Abraham Lincoln, and an exchange affects to believe that the republican statesmanship that can figure a triumph for McKinleyism out of bountiful crops, ought to be able to find some political capital in the trotting record of 2:07 1-4.

If the McKinley law is not responsible for strikes, neither is it to be credited with averting them. Ever since the law went into operation there have been continuous strikes in protected industries. And inasmuch as the law is made for the protection of labor, the people who are paying the expense of it are quite right in asking what is wrong with it.

The Chicago Mail makes an excellent proposition in an issue of last week, namely, that the convicts in the penitentiaries be put to work on the roads throughout the states. These men should do sufficient work for the state to pay back, in part at least, the state's support of them. The Mail's idea is a good one and has received seconds in a number of prints, with and without credit.

In a republican campaign document Washington and Jefferson are quoted as "republicans if they were alive to-day," because they were protectionists. The tariff tax of their belief and promulgation ranged from 8 1-2 to 15 per cent. and covered not 300 articles, when industries were indeed "infants." To assume that they would approve a 60 per cent. tax when the industries have become giants—well, it takes a republican orator or editor to do it.

It is quite the style for our nabobs to be sojourning in that hated kingdom of Great Britain when trouble comes upon their corporations at home. They leave their business to the care of the military and the expense of the state and give themselves no further concern beyond an expression of surprise and sorrow that things should be thus. Mr. Depew is surprised at the strike and sorry for the inconvenience of his patrons, but he goes on having his good times just the same, and leaves his patrons and the military and the other bosses to get matters fixed up against the time for him to appear on the campaign platform and make speeches to catch labor votes.

Why are the commentators taking to classifying single women as "girl bachelors?" It must be because the ancient term "old maids" doesn't fill the bill. The old maid of a former period didn't know so much, do so much, or blossom on in perrennial girlhood as does the single woman of to-day. But to call her a "bachelor," because, forsooth, she has learned to make a cosy home for herself, is not pat. A man can't do this. If he be able and possess himself of sufficient means, he can attach himself to a festive club house, but that isn't "home." At last the single woman has the best of it. She has the freedom and prestige of the bachelor and can make a home and furnish its support. Sometimes the man bachelor can do one of these, but he can rarely do both.

Queen Victoria has been distributing earldoms, baronetcies and knighthoods to the tory statesmen who got left in the last election. Mr. Harrison distributes offices, but there is a difference in limit; the queen has it all her own sweet way. The president can not create offices ad libitum. To a committee who waited upon him he pathetically lamented that he did the best he could with the offices at his disposal as fulfillment of promises and salve for disappointments. Said he, "I have felt great regret that I was unable to find a place for every deserving friend, but I did not disparage those I could not appoint to place."

Noble sentiments from a president pledged to civil service reform. The current number of the Republican magazine quotes them as something to be proud of. He was good enough not to talk badly about those that he couldn't provide for. With all his magnanimity, there are some of them still pouting. Queen Vic's way is less vexatious.

FROM A PALACE CAR WINDOW.

In his Illinois speeches Mr. Reid waxes eloquent over the evidences of prosperity he sees as he rolls luxuriously through the green fields of the prairie state. He is "glad of the wonderful prosperity of the Illinois farmer and glad that he belongs to the party that had decreed for the farmer this great prosperity." Mr. Reid is reminded by a Chicago newspaper that green fields as seen from the window of a palace car do not show the mortgage plasters that cover them. To Mr. Reid's naked eye and his limited knowledge of western affairs, the $100 dollar indebtedness for every man, woman and child in the state and the $500 lien on the average farmer's property are not visible. Evidently Mr. Reid hasn't seen the latest census returns and he doesn't know that the total mortgages filed in the state of Illinois in the last nine years amount in the aggregate to three times the total assessed value of the real estate, improved and unimproved, in the entire state.

If this is the kind of prosperity his kind of party politics brings to the western farmer, he would better not bear too much upon it in his speech making. A few of the Illinois farmers are awake to the fact that something is the matter.

THE SIX NATIONS.

The extra census bulletins which relate to the past and present history of the remaining Indian tribes, are of value and interest. Expert agent Thomas Donaldson has prepared the statistics of the six nations of New York, which is well printed and finely illustrated with portraits and maps. Not only are the statistics of value, but the narrative reads like a romance. We have robbed and cheated the Indians and neglected their history. Old world novelists and artists would have hung pictures of fact and fancy about their lives, the fame of which would circle the earth. An Edwin Arnold (of America) would have had no call to Persia and Japan for poetic subjects. Whittier has sung of them in strains that grow more and more prized as the dusky subjects retreat farther and farther into the shaded and misty back-ground of the past. Romona will live so long as the land of sun and flowers is known and read in books. The "Century of Dishonor" will tell to our descendants the wicked tale of fraud and cheat, in our dealings with the copper colored races. And when the few lingering remnants shall have "looked their last on the setting sun," they will become objects of interest, of romance and song, their lives and their fates mellowed into softer tints by the busy hand of time.

It is well to have all the threads of their history gathered up for preservation while yet the daylight is strong upon them. The bulletins aforesaid, when all shall be bound together in books, if the work is as well done as indications promise, will be a helpful addition to the history of the race, especially in its present-day phases. The Six Nations are to American Indian life what the Greeks and Romans were to the nations along the Mediterranean. One remarkable fact is noted: the league of the Iroquois (and these best of all Indians have preserved their traditions) is stronger in 1890 than it was in 1660, the figures being: 15,870 for the later and 11,000 for the earlier date.

The enumerator found no places for the sale of intoxicating liquors, no gambling houses or immoral resorts on any of the reservations of the six nations. Liquors are sold them by persons outside the reservation. While the Indian tribes of the west lean and depend upon the great father at Washington for support, the Indian league of the east asks only to be let alone by congress and governmental officers. There are Christians and pagans among them and the word of one is as good as the word of the other. It is noticeable that the Christian Indians are more progressive as to education and the use of the arts and inventions of civilization. Pauperism is rare and the tramp is unknown. A fact noted and one to make the white face burn with shame is, that since the white element has been warned out and kept out of their midst "diseases resulting from such association" have lessened, mortality has been reduced and longevity increased. The percentage of advanced ages are without chronic impairment of faculties is beyond that of any like number of people in the United States. Their hymns are rendered into Iroquois dialect, but the books used in their schools are printed in English. Those who can speak English pray in their own language. (The Indians of northern Michigan do this, also, but when they swear they drop quickly into English). A compulsory school law would aid the Indians, but New York has no such law for white children.

The total population of the Six Nations, exclusive of the Oneidas, not on a reservation, is 5,133; of this number 2,844 speak the English language, and 1,985 do not. The total acreage of the reservation is 87,237.73, or 16.78 acres for each person. The value of the whole is estimated at $1,810,699.60. The enumerators found, especially among the Senecas, a desire to break away from tribal relations and mix with their white neighbors, and it is predicted that the end of the present century will see a great change in the present condition and disposition of the Indians of New York.

ALDERMEN

Hold a Quiet and Business Like Session.

Some East Side Improvements Started—Park Place Will Not Be Paved.

The board of aldermen met last evening with all members present except Mr. Leroux. There was a long schedule of business before them but the members were not in a talkative mood and matters were rushed through without discussions.

Mr. Hartford introduced resolutions to grade Willow avenue, Navarre avenue to Woodville street; to grade Navarre avenue, Oak street to Woodville street; and to grade Rogers street, Navarre avenue to Woodville street. These were all referred to the street committee.

Mr. Hartford also presented a resolution, which was adopted, directing the Pennsylvania Railway company to place a watchman at the Fassett street crossing.

Mr. Hassenzahl presented a resolution for a new sewer in Water street from Ash to Buffalo. Referred.

Mr. Hodge introduced a resolution which was adopted, directing the street commissioner and the Consolidated Street Railway company to repair Cherry street between Peck and Page streets.

The attention of the board was called to the bad condition of the alley between Hamilton and Tecumseh streets, by a communication from Health Officer Fisher, and the matter was referred to the street committee.

Lincoln avenue property owners sent in a petition asking that this street be paved from Monroe street to Waite avenue, and this was referred to the same committee.

From the committees an ordinance was passed to improve Moore street and resolutions were adopted to pave Ontario street, to pave the alley between Summit and St. Clair street from Adams to Madison; to pave the same alley from Monroe to Perry streets; to pave Wisconsin street, and to improve Spring street.

The resolution to pave Park Place, from Adams street to Woodruff avenue, was lost. This is a short street on one side of a beautiful triangular park in the Seventh ward, and for several years the property owners have been making efforts to have it paved, but as the city would be obliged to pay for half of the improvement the council has always opposed it.

A number of minor resolutions from the committees on sidewalks, plats and judiciary were adopted, and the business from the lower board was all passed.

COMMISSIONER APPOINTED.

Tiffin, O., Aug. 23.—The probate judge, auditor and recorder of Seneca county filled the vacancy caused by the death of Commissioner Hedden, by appointing Truman Zeis, of Liberty township, for the unexpired term. Zeis is the regular democratic nominee to succeed Hedden.

THE LEITZ WILL

Is Somewhat of a Chinese Puzzle in its Construction.

The Oregon Township Hermit Leaves Traces of His Peculiarities in His Last Testament—Who Are the Heirs?

The will of Adolph Leitz, the Oregon township hermit, is on file at the probate office.

After providing for the funeral expenses and indebtedness, the instrument reads:

"I do hereby devise, bequeath and give to my nephews, the children of my brother, August Leitz, deceased, who reside in the village of Lauderkoph, Teirgenhauf Kries Marienburgh, Germany, all of the balance of my property, both personal and real, which I may own at my death."

It will be seen that the father of the nephews referred to is dead and the names of the heirs intended are not given.

The postoffice directory does not give any such village as Lauderkoph and it is very probable that there will be considerable difficulty in settling up the estate.

Noah H. Whitney is appointed executor by the terms of the will.

Judging from the strict wording of this circular there will be no excuse accepted in the future.

SIX SITES LOOKED AT

Near Toledo for the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home.

The Committee Will Soon Commence to Look About for Funds and People Will Be Asked to Shell Out.

The committee appointed by the local lodges of Odd Fellows to see what could be done to bring the Odd Fellows' Orphans' home to Toledo has secured options on six pieces of property ranging from 60 to 120 acres in extent.

All are up the river. The committee is positive that if they secure a site somewhere along the banks of the Maumee between Toledo and Maumee or Perrysburg that it cannot be beaten for beauty and healthfulness in the state.

The committee now knowing what amount of money it will need to carry out the project, will set about securing the same at once.

Cleveland is working hard for the home and Toledo will have to do a little hustling to keep up in the race.

Another meeting of the committee will be held as soon as some feeling about has been done in the matter of funds.

It has not been decided how the money will be raised, by public subscription or by the members of the order. Most likely the former plan will be adopted. The arrangements will be made known in a few days and then the friends of the order and those who have a pride in the Future Great can contribute their mite.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Several People Seriously Injured at Norwalk.

Norwalk, Aug. 23.—(Special)—During a parade along Main street last night of the Fairies' Carnival on floats, one wagon broke down and tipped over on the side, throwing the children violently to the ground.

Misses Effie Keible, Cecelia Ludwig, Miss Swinden and three or four others received painful bruises about the head and hands.

Wm. H. Feeley, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who was sitting on the end of the wagon in charge of the red lights, was thrown violently to the pavement, receiving a painful injury in side and back.

He was picked up unconscious, remaining delirious part of the night.

LETTER CARRIERS.

They Meet in Convention in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 23.—The annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers is in session here to-day with a larger attendance than any previous meeting of the association.

The delegates come from every part of the country, and, as shown by the report of the secretary, they represent a larger membership than has ever before been enrolled in the organization. Several matters of importance to the carriers will be discussed, and a new president and other officers for the ensuing year elected.

TREASURY STATEMENT.

Condition of the Finances in Uncle Sam's Strong Box.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Treasury officials state that the department has a balance of $50,000,000, and the revenues, notwithstanding the loss of the $60,000,000 on sugar, are increasing at the rate of $1,000,000 a month from customs alone. This rate of increase has been going on since the first of March. The increase of internal revenue for the year closed July 1, was $3,000,000 over the year before, and this year there will be an increase of $6,000,000 over the year just closed. It is estimated that the customs revenues this year will produce a surplus of $15,000,000 over expenditures.

Secretary Foster is not at all apprehensive that the treasury department will experience any trouble in the matter of the shipment of gold during the present year. He so expressed himself to a reporter today. The secretary believes that things are safe with the large amount of gold the government absolutely owns, viz: $110,000,000, and thinks it will take many a demand to seriously deplete this store, when constant accessions to it are being made. Nothing has been done looking to a prevention of the shipments of gold from this country, said the secretary, and nothing will be done.

STAR CHAMBER SESSION.

The Board of Revision Will Do Things on the Quiet.

Met This Morning But Will Examine No More Witnesses—Preparing Its Report.

Mayor Emmick, City Solicitor Read and Mr. Coleman, president of the council, comprising the members of the board of revision, met in Mr. Read's office this morning and proceeded to discuss the Bower investigation case.

Mr. Kirkham, the complainant, was the only outsider present when a Bee entered.

Mr. Read read for the enlightenment of the board part of Mr. Bower's evidence. But he closed up closer than a clam when he saw the reporter.

"Have you found those two lost witnesses yet?" Mayor Emmick was asked.

"Not yet, and are not likely to, I guess."

"Has any effort been made to find them?"

"Yes, every effort; but without avail. They are gone."

Then there was a silence so dense that it could almost be felt.

Then the city solicitor broke the dread stillness by saying:

"While I like to give the press the full facts in everything, I think that just now, while we are at work on our report, that we go into executive session."

This was agreed to, and the reporters got up to go.

Mr. Kirkham, however, held his ground. "Mr. Kirkham," Mr. Read said, "we must ask you to leave the room."

Mr. Kirkham remarked that he had some further facts that he would like to lay before the board.

Mr. Read said this would hardly be fair, inasmuch as Mr. Bower or his representative was not present.

Mr. Kirkham was then ushered out.

The report will be prepared this afternoon, but will not be given out for publication until presented to the council next Monday night.

LAW BREAKING COPS.

Shooting Affray Between Two of Them.

An Early Morning Encounter Between Two Irate Policemen—The Neighborhood Alarmed.

Sycamore street is a short thoroughfare next to Walnut and running from Water to Summit streets.

A little before daybreak this morning residents of the street were aroused from their slumbers by the shooting of a revolver followed by a war of words between two men.

It proved that the lawbreakers were two policemen who had in some way got into a quarrel.

A boisterous quarrel in which hot oaths and other curses prevailed, followed the shooting.

Residents who were awakened by the unwonted noise on this quietest of streets, saw on popping their heads out of the windows the two policemen in angry altercation.

"What do you mean by shooting at me, you —— —— ——," one of them exclaimed angrily.

The men stood around for half an hour cursing, and finally wandered off on their different beats.

The affair caused considerable excitement and is the talk of the street to-day. No one seems to know who the men were, but undoubtedly Chief Reitz will know who were on beats in that vicinity.

Should some of the officers turn their guns upon each other instead of shooting down peaceful citizens the public could bear it with fortitude.

A SWEET INDUSTRY.

Company for the Manufacture of Candy Incorporated.

Popular Traveling Salesmen of Toledo Are the Incorporators—The Papers in Columbus.

There was filed with the secretary of state at Columbus this morning incorporation papers of a new Toledo industry.

It will be known as the Lang-Johnson Candy company. The following are the incorporators: D. J. Lang for many years with Worts, Kirk & Bigelow; Charles Johnston, salesman for Dunscombe & Co.; W. H. H. Reader, with West & Truax; F. J. Anderson, with Childs, Lee & Dunlap; John Keller, with Bostwick, Braun & Co., and Attorney Emory B. Hiett.

The members are all hustling young business men and the fact that they are connected with the enterprise is a guarantee of its success.

The company has been incorporated with a nominal capital stock of $12,000.

Locations for the institution have been secured on Monroe street near St. Clair.

A HARD TIME OF IT.

Stealing a Load of Hay No Soft Snap.

Jack Hayes Had a Little Experience in That Line Yesterday Afternoon.

Jack Hayes must be some relation to the man who stole a carpet from the Burnett house some time ago. At least their ideas of thieving branch out in the same general direction, regardless of what they are stealing as long as it's something. Jack was gathered in last evening by the police for stealing a load of hay.

It seems Henry Lapointe, a Vienna farmer, came to town yesterday morning with a load of hay and after standing about the market place for some hours disposed of it to the Elevator Ice company. On his way to the company's barns he fell in with Jack Hayes and hired him to unload the hay, Jack taking the contract for 25 cents.

When the barn was reached Hayes went to work nobly unloading, but as soon as Lapointe's back was turned he picked up the reins and drove away at a lively gait towards Auburndale.

However, the way of the transgressor is hard, and Jack found it so in his case, for at the corner of Monroe and Bancroft streets the wagon toppled over, throwing Jack to the ground and sprained one of his ankles. Half of the hay was lost in the operation. Jack managed to get back on top of what was left and drove on. He was arrested when approaching the precincts of Auburndale, a telephone message from the police station having made the journey in less time than Jack and his hay. The case will probably come up in police court to-morrow.

MAD MAN IN CLEVELAND

A Murder and Suicide in Daylight.

George Hutchinson Kills George Talcott and Then Ends His Own Days.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 23.—Charles Hutchinson this morning called at the residence of ex-Mayor Stephen Buhrer, rang the front door bell, and when Mrs. Buhrer answered the summons, demanded to see her servant, a girl named Lizzie Jackson.

Mrs. Buhrer, seeing that Hutchinson was intoxicated, refused to admit him to the house, whereupon he pushed her aside and rushed in.

In the meantime, the servant, who had overheard the dispute, ran to the bathroom and locked herself in. Mrs. Buhrer cried for help and her coachman, Geo. Talcott, started to run in from the barn.

When he was about half way across the lawn, Hutchinson took aim from the doorway with a revolver and shot him dead.

The murderer then turned and chased Mrs. Ruhrer all through the house, firing at her as she ran. Finally she succeeded in slamming a door shut behind her and locking it.

Several more reports were then heard, and when neighbors arrived upon the scene they found Hutchinson lying probably fatally wounded by shots that he had himself fired into his body.

Hutchinson was in love with the servant girl and had become jealous of the attention received by her from the murdered coachman.

AN OVER-CIVILIZED BIRD.

The Most Elegant of the Canary Kind Has His Faults.

If you happen to see a very long, slender bird, with high, round shoulders arching over its perch, and a tail pointing downward almost perpendicularly, ten to one it is a Belgian canary. The Wooster street bird fancier, who raises canaries for fun, and makes shoemakers' tools for a living, has just received two of these birds from a friend upon a solemn promise that they shall never see the inside of a professional bird fancier's shop, says the New York Sun. The Belgian canary has no great reputation or popularity in this country, though he is the favorite with the bird fanciers of Edinburgh, Glasgow and Belfast, cities where the craze for caged birds possess all sorts of people, and folks who have only enough means to keep themselves decently, will spend $100 a year upon lodging for their feathered pets. Edinburgh and Glasgow have their annual bird shows, and in these the Belgian canary is a feature.

The Belgian has got farther away from wild ancestors of the Canary and Madeira isles than any of his cousins. The wild canary is a little brownish yellow bird with a touch of green, seldom more than five inches long and of strong domestic instinct. He sometimes bursts the blood vessels of his throat in his musical love making, and he and his wife bring up four families a year. The Belgian is a very different sort of bird. He is the dude of the canary family. His color is anything from golden yellow, with greenish brown touches, to a pale tint that is almost white. The palest birds are liable to disease and seldom are strong. The largest Belgians measure eight inches, and the most slender can be passed through a large finger ring. It is the dude like languor and elegance of the Belgian that has given him a reputation, for he is hardly so good a singer as some of his plainer fellows, and he and his wife have highly improper notions as to parental duty. They usually bring up two families a year, when the wife is in a mood for sitting, but it often happens that she destroys her eggs, and it is not unusual to take them from her nest to be hatched by some plainer hen with stronger maternal instinct. Sometimes the Belgians neglect their offspring after they are hatched, and the young are plucked to make a nest for the next brood, if no one interferes to prevent the outrage.

The Belgian is the final product of canary civilization, and there are signs that he is the product of decaying civilization. His small family and weak paternal instinct bear out Mr. Darwin's notions as to the result of getting too far from the parent stem, and generally it is found that the canaries which approach most nearly in physical aspect their ancestors of the wilds are the soundest and strongest birds. This may account for the greater popularity of the plain little German canary in this country. At the same time, the Belgians fetch at the lowest $10 apiece, while the Germans fetch $2.50.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S . PROVERBIAL . PHILOSOPHY . . .

Coming events cast their shadows before.

The feeling of utter listlessness, lack of energy, desire to be alone, or the "don't care" feeling, are all shadows of coming events. No woman should permit those symptoms to gain ground, for, being forewarned, she should be forearmed. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will disperse all those shadows. It goes to the very root of all female complaints, renews the waning vitality, and invigorates the entire system. Surely such letters as this will support our claims:

DEAR MADAM.— . . . I think your Vegetable Compound saved my life; it is the best medicine for kidney and female troubles I ever saw. I induced my friends to use it, and it has never failed.—Mrs. H. E. FOSKETT, West Rutland, Vt.

Druggists sell it as a standard article, or sent by mail, in form of Pills or Lozenges, on receipt of $1.00. An illustrated book, entitled "Guide to Health and Etiquette," by Lydia E. Pinkham, is of great value to ladies. We will present a copy to anyone addressing us with two 2-cent stamps. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., Lynn, Mass.

WITH A SCARAB TO A FRIEND.*

Day by day, and mile by mile,
As I journeyed up the Nile,
Pen in hand,
Taking sketches, making notes
Of temples, tourists, boats,
Palms, and sand;

Labyrinthine tombs exploring,
Climbing pyramids, adoring
Gods of old;
"Anteekah"-hunting, trying
My prentice hand at buying,
Being "sold;"

Keeping Christmas without holly—
In the midst of these excursions,
"Fantasias," and diversions
Without end,
I bought a tiny scarab
One morning from an Arab
For my friend.

It was once the sacred token
Of eternity unbroken
And divine.
Some long-vanished priest or king,
Lord or lady, owned the thing—
Now 'tis thine.

Though England has had many prime ministers who lived to be octogenarians, there has been but one British premier in this century besides Mr. Gladstone, and none in the last, who was in office when past 80. That aged statesman was Lord Palmerston, who died at his post in his 81st year, in 1865.

"If any social habit more than another leads to crime," he says, "it is that of betting and gambling, which derive their attraction from the hope of getting rich without work."

He appealed, and there being no pettifogging lawyers leagued to cheat justice down there, the law's sentence was in effect enforced pending appeal, and the decision of the supreme tribunal finally added thirty days more to his sentence.

SLENDER WAISTS.

The opinions of great men on marriage and matrimonial topics are always interesting, if not invariably instructive.

Thackeray, who detested "wasp-waisted women," once told a young relative, who was much in love, to take his betrothed to a physician before purchasing an engagement ring.

"What for?" his companion inquired, in considerable astonishment.

"To see whether the wasp-waist is an inheritance or a consequence," he replied.

"Consequence!" exclaimed the young man; "what do you mean?"

"Corsets," said Thackeray, laconically.

"Miss —— has the most beautiful figure in England," said the infatuated lover.

"She is deformed," Thackeray responded. "If it is a natural deformity she may be a moderately healthy woman. Even hump-backs are not always delicate, you know. Mind, I say moderately healthy. But if that girl's figure is the result of corsets you might better go and hang yourself than risk the evils that will inevitably follow."

Abraham Lincoln once remarked that every man about to marry should stand over a doctor with a club and make him tell the truth with reference to the chosen partner for life, if there was no other way of getting it out of him. Also that the parents who would allow a girl to marry a man without knowing, as nearly as could be known, his physical as well as his moral condition deserved to be scalped.

"The whole marrying business is wrong," said Lincoln. "Fashionable girls have too often foolish mothers, who care for nothing but to sell their flesh and blood to the highest bidder."—Albany Express.

ONE EVIL OF STANDING ARMIES

Soldiers Don't Marry in France and Population is Accordingly Decreasing.

The people of Europe are being brought face to face with the cost of great standing armies by the collectors of vital statistics. The census shows that in 1890 the deaths in France exceeded the births by 38,446. When the announcement was first made the doctors declared the phenomenon was due to the ravages of la grippe. But the San Francisco Examiner says an examination of the table showed that the mortality had not been above the average; it was the decrease in births which had caused the discrepancy. The returns show that there has been a large diminution in the number of marriages and a decrease of 42,000 in the number of births as compared with the old averages.

This is the fruit of a large standing army. Soldiers cannot marry. They would not if they could; and if they could no general would be willing to encumber himself with an army corps of women. The marriageable males in France are reduced by just the number of men who are conscripted for military duty, and the birth rate falls off in proportion. What is true of France is probably true of Germany and Italy. In those countries vital statistics are not collected as assiduously as they are in France. If they were they would probably show that the population of Germany is receding even more rapidly than that of its rival, for Germany has to endure a heavy annual loss from emigration, while France loses few of its people from that cause.

It thus seems that the financial embarrassment brought upon those two countries by their war policy—which reveals itself in both by the labor troubles that are constantly breaking out in Paris and Berlin—is only one of the evil consequences of their warlike attitude. They are not only spending the substance of their people and crushing them beneath an intolerable burden of taxation—the one to keep, the other to regain the spoils of war—but they are stopping the fountain which is the source of their strength and greatness and enduring the penalty of war without a chance of winning its rewards.

AN INVESTIGATION

Into the Affairs of An Insurance Company.

Knights of the Golden Rule Want the Supreme Commandery Looked Into.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 23.—The supreme commandery of the Knights of the Golden Rule is holding a secret meeting in this city to-day, and as a result of the investigation into the sources of certain rumors regarding the financial condition of the order which have been in circulation for some time, startling disclosures are looked for by the members of the organization.

It is said that the investigation will reveal a condition of affairs similar to, and possibly much worse than that recently discovered in the finances of the Iron Hall. For some time past the order has been known to be in bad straits, and the local branches have made an effort to find out the exact condition of the supreme commandery.

Having failed in this, and more especially on account of the failure of the commandery to pay more than half of the death claim of one of the deceased members, a castle at Elkhart, Ind., has withdrawn from the order, and is using its influence to bring about a public investigation.

Nathan Meyer, secretary of the seceding castle, says that by their recent statement the grand commandery was shown to have only $878 in the treasury, less than enough to pay one minimum benefit policy. He says that they also claim to have 70,000 members in the United States, whereas, in reality, they have less than 5,000. Other castles throughout the country have threatened to withdraw, and there is but little doubt that the matter will be sifted to the bottom before the present agitation is allowed to subside.

THE COOLEY GANG.

A Reporter Gets an Interview With One of Them.

Pittsburg, Aug. 23.—A Times reporter has interviewed the notorious Cooley gang in Fayette county. He got word to them that he wished to visit them. After waiting six days, during which time he was watched and questioned, a messenger came to him, telling him he would have to go unarmed, permit himself to be searched and if any one followed, the reporter and followers would be killed.

In the midst of a forest the reporter was blindfolded and led into the presence of five of the gang who were assembled in a natural opening. Frank Cooley, the leader, is about 25 years old and is one of a family of 15. In an interview Frank Cooley said he would give himself up if guaranteed that he would not receive more than four years' imprisonment. Jack Ramsey has not thought of giving himself up, and says he will not be taken alive. The outlaws deny complicity in many crimes laid to their door. AN AWFUL CHARGE.

A Father Guilty of Wrecking His Own Daughter's Life.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 23.—The Leader says Secretary Dorente, of the anti-cruelty society, to-day made information against Josiah Guinn, squire of Mifflin township, charging him with a heinous assault upon his 17-year old daughter. Guinn had his daughter make information some time ago against eight young men charging them with assaulting her.

Some of them were sentenced to the penitentiary at the June term of court, while others proved an alibi. Friends of the young men, who believed them innocent, have been working on the case ever since.

On the 17th of this month Guinn's daughter was brought here and lodged in jail.

She at first stoutly clung to her first story, that she had been the victim of an assault by the eight young men, but finally made a full confession, in which she says she has been the victim of her father's unnatural desires for the past two years, since the death of her mother.

Guinn is an old and respected resident of Mifflin township and has been a magistrate for several years. He will be arrested at once.

AT THE THEATERS.

A Barrel of Money Opens the People's.

The Plot of Thatcher's Tuxedo—Under Ground Deals With the Miners' Strike in Pennsylvania.

The People's theater opened last evening with A Barrel of Money, an American comedy by Herbert Hall Winslow. The piece is a happy combination of the melodrama, light comedy, music and specialties, and it is presented with elaborate scenic and mechanical effects. The specialties are excellent and would make the performance a success without the other features. The play will be at the People's all this week with the usual matinees.

The Plot of Tuxedo.

Geo. Thatcher's minstrels in Tuxedo, which is described as a merry thing of farce comedy and minstrelsy, will appear at Wheeler's Thursday evening. It is a decided departure in the amusement line. The story of Tuxedo is briefly as follows:

A party of amateurs are at the fashionable resort, suggested by the name of the attraction, endeavoring to arrange an entertainment. A number of the volunteers fail to show up and the idea is about to be abandoned when some one recalls the fact that George Thatcher's minstrels are rehearsing at Plainfield and are called upon to fill the vacancy. The suggestion is acted upon and the second act of the piece is a complete minstrel first part. The third act is given to clearing up slight complications and specialties.

Underground.

Friday and Saturday evenings Underground, a new labor play will be presented at Wheeler's. The piece is laid in the coal fields of Pennsylvania and the plot is woven about the strike of the coal miners about Scranton in 1877. The piece will be presented by a strong company and lots of special scenery.

THE NAVAL RESERVE.

Another Enthusiastic Meeting Held

Last Evening at the O. Y. C. Rooms—No One Under Twenty-One Years of Age Will be Admitted.

The Toledo Naval Reserve has passed through the preliminary stages and is now ready, and waiting to be mustered in. Another enthusiastic meeting was held at the O. Y. C. rooms last evening. Col. Bonner was in the chair. He stated that 70 names had been forwarded to Gov. McKinley and that an encouraging reply had been received, stating that he had the matter under legal advisement.

Mr. Wheeler, of the membership committee, made a report. It was decided that no one under 21 years of age be admitted to membership, and each application for membership be signed by three members in good standing.

Parks Hone moved that no more members be admitted until the organization was fully under way. Carried. Applications can be sent in, however, to be acted upon in due time. The election of officers, etc., will not come up until after the initiation of the naval reserve.

August Machen was elected vice chairman, as Col. Bonner will be out of the city a good deal.

Col. Bonner read a letter from the adjutant-general of New York, in which it was stated that the naval reserve of that state had been given an appropriation of $25,000 as a starter.

Something definite will be heard from the authorities in a few days now, and the chair will then call another meeting and the final steps in the organization of the Toledo Naval Reserve will be taken.

ENGLISH RAILROADS.

Enormous Sums of Money Invested.

Two Hundred Million Dollars Paid Out in Wages Each Year.

London, Aug. 23.—A report just compiled by Sir George Findlay, general manager of the London & Northwestern railroad for the purpose of showing the prosperous condition of the British railroad employe as compared with his brothers in other countries, gives some surprising figures regarding the recent growth and present immense proportions of the railroad corporations of England.

The authorized capital of all the railroads in England is more than $5,000,000,000, of which over $4,000,000,000 is paid in; the annual receipts from the railway traffic of the different roads amounts to something over $400,000,000, which amount is nearly as much as the income of the nation.

Fifty-four per cent. goes in working expenses, and over $200,000,000 is paid out in wages. The number of men directly employed by the railroad companies of Great Britain and Ireland is upwards of 350,000, and including those who are employed indirectly the number exceeds half a million.

Sir George cites several cases in which the condition of the men as regards wages and hours has been improved, but says that the objects on principle to dealing with representatives of trades unions, which might as well be established in her majesty's army as in the railroad service.

AN IMPOSING STRUCTURE

Will Be St. Patrick's New Church.

The Foundation is Laid and the Work is Progressing Rapidly—What Father Hannin Says.

Yesterday the foundation of the new St. Patrick's church was finished and Father Hannin invited a number of friends to visit the building. It promises to be a massive and perfect structure. The foundation walls are of enormous thickness and the column sites, of which there are 10, are equally as substantial.

Father Hannin takes pride in the fact that the church in the matter of population and geographically is in the center of the city. It is also the highest point above sea level inside the city limits.

The location is an excellent one and the lot, which is 210 feet on Thirteenth street and 140 on Lefayette street, rides three feet above the street grade.

The main entrance, an outline of which can already be seen, will be supported on either side by three marble arches.

Father Hannin, who has many plans for pushing the building, says it is going to be one of the finest church structures in the entire west.

The church when completed will stand 25 feet from Thirteenth and 17 feet from Lefayette street. Between the church and the streets will be a beautiful lawn on which trees will be planted as soon as the structure is completed.

No time has yet been set for the cornerstone laying, but Father Hannin thinks it will be some time this year.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Prices Current for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 136,510 bus., and at five other western points 1,333,231 bus. Aggregate 1,469,741 bus. On the same Tuesday in 1891 the receipts at same points were 1,079,408 bus. Excess to-day over 1891, 390,323 bus.

The export clearances at four Atlantic ports were wheat 449,047 bus. and flour to an aggregate of 600,000 bus. Exports of corn 174,957 bus. English markets are dull for wheat and steady for corn.

Beerbohm's statement of imports into the United Kingdom, plus the sales of English wheat and the increase on ocean passage, make an aggregate of 5,702,000 bus., which is largely in excess of estimated consumption.

The Mark Lane extract gives—if there is no error in the types—the stock of flour and wheat in the United Kingdom as 54,508,000 bus, against 31,728,000 bus at corresponding date in 1891. This very largely exceeds all previous statements.

Including our increase in visible supply, and the gain on ocean passage, what we call the available wheat, shows an increase of 4,047,000 bus, and 1,653,000 bus of corn.

The wheat crop in the northwest is being harvested were under adverse conditions. Too much rain—wheat dead ripe and wasting, labor and machines inadequate.

The receipts of what at Toledo to-day foot up 508,000 bus.

The shipment from India last week equaled 340,000 bus. Previous week, 320,000 bus. From April 1, the commencement of the crop year, 20,760,000 bus., compared with 29,030,000 bus. in the corresponding period in 1891.

A year ago this day week No. 2 soft wheat sold at $1.03 1-2 to $1.05, December at $1.06 1-2 to $1.07 3-4, but in three days cash and futures declined 4c, after which cash September hovered around $1.00.

On Saturday last we gave very full and complete comparisons in the wheat movement this month and last year's corresponding weeks. We showed that the receipts at eight western points in August to and including Saturday, exceeded last year by 3,589,000 bu. Yesterday the excess at same points, over 1891, were 277,768 bu. To-day it is 390,523 bu.; aggregate for two days, 668,089 bu.; aggregate excess in August, 4,229,000 bu. Dealers in wheat are called upon to decide how long the market can stand such a movement even at present prices, with a million bushels per week less exports, from both coasts, than in 1891. They know a heap more about it than we do.

But all the same the markets for wheat have been well maintained to-day. No encouragement came from abroad, as markets over there are dull and without interest. Paris is today quoted higher, and we presume on expected damage to wheat by the excessive heat. It is the home demand for shipment and by short sellers that supports the market. Prices have been about 1-2c higher all day.

Corn has also worked strong and prices have averaged higher, until near the close, when the markets sold off 5-8c from the highest point for September.

In New York August wheat closed at $1 1-4c, and September at $1 3-4c, a gain on each of 1-4c. August corn at 65c and September at 60c, a gain on each of 1-4c. September oats unchanged at 39 5-8c.

In Chicago August wheat closed at 75 1-2c and September at 76c, a gain on each of 3-8c. August and September corn closed at 52 1-4c, a loss on each of 3-8c. September oats at 34 5-8c, a gain of 1-8c.

In Toledo.—The leading deal in future wheat here to-day has been December, in which there has been a fair amount of trading. Other futures were dealt in to a moderate extent only. There have been no new factors of influence in the market, but prices have been stronger. Opening deals were at about yesterday's closing, but the market gained 1-2c at close on all the months traded in. August opened and closed at 78c, September opened at 77 1-2c and closed at 78c, October sold at 78 3-8c and closed at 1-2c. December sold at 80 1-2c and closed at 81c.

Cash wheat was in fair request and the market was fairly supplied; No. 2 soft sold at 77 3-4c and at close 78c was the market; No. 3 soft sold at 71c to 70 1-2c, closing at 71c; No. 4 soft at 66c to 65 1-2c; in L. GLADSTONE LIKES CYCLISTS.

He Preaches a Homily on That Form of Exercise.

"I have noticed with real and unfeigned pleasure," remarked Gladstone recently to an interviewer, "the rapid growth of cycling in this country, for not only does it afford to many to whom it would be otherwise unobtainable a healthy and pleasurable form of exercise, but it also enables them to derive all those advantages of travel which, previous to the advent of cycling, were out of their reach.

"It provides them with the opportunity—I am now speaking of those in business during the week—of leaving behind them the towns and thickly-populated localities in which they carry on their work, and rapidly passing into the fresh clear air of the country with all its verdure, all its brightness, all its enjoyability.

"And it is far more profitable than the luxurious railway journey from the city to some definite point along some unalterable route, over which the traveler is whirled with no time for observation, and no opportunity of examining the district through which he is carried.

"In cycling he has abundant opportunity for studying all things of interest in the country which he traverses, its natural features, its characteristics, its curiosities.

"At each halting-place when he arrives he can find time to enter in conversation with those around him.

"Each expedition thus becomes an instructive and elevating voyage of discovery, revealing to the cyclist and making him intimate with the nature, the claims, the wonders and the peculiarities of the country in which he lives, pleasures which, in an equal extent, are denied to all other tourists.

"Of the bodily good derived from so manly and healthy a form of exercise, of the blessing it bestows, helping to maintain a sound mind in a sound body by the relaxation from the desk or counter, of the recreation in the open air, of the energy it calls into play, I need hardly speak.

"I can only emphasize the fact that I consider that physically, morally and socially the benefits cycling confers on the men of the present day are almost unbounded, and this belief I endeavor to act up to by heartily welcoming and assisting, so far as in me lies, the many cyclists who come to visit Hawarden and see the grounds.

"One of the features of my reception in Edinburgh which gave me much pleasure was the escort of some 30 cyclists, who kept pace with the carriage up to the very lodge gates, forming a voluntary body-guard. To the onlookers two of the most attractive parts about cycling are the keenness of its devotees and the kind of free-masonry that exists amongst them."

Years have not impaired the beauty of his voice. It is as firm and clear as a bell, adds the interviewer. One forgets his four score years in the energy and vitality of his manner, and the keenness with which he enters upon the discussion of essentially up-to-date topics.

Who would have thought that he would have been so well acquainted with such later-day insatiations as cycling? Yet directly he spoke of these it was shown that he knew all about them, and had devoted thought and reading to them.

His eyebrows and eyes are the most noticeable features of his face. Every sentence is emphasized with a rapid and appropriate motion of the heavy black eyebrows, giving his whole countenance a most animated appearance in conversation.

The flash of Mr. Gladstone's eye is as brilliant as that of a young man's. Rare, indeed, are eyes of such brilliancy and power.

One remark more and I have done. When I saw Mr. Gladstone he was on the eve of the greatest crisis of his long life. Yet he might have been an enthusiastic cyclist or journalist from the interest he evinced in these matters.

The general election might have been years off, although the busy brain must have been full of thought concerning the speeches he was just about to deliver.

ONLY A SLEEPING PARTNER.

A good story comes from the provinces about the late election, says the London World. A well known and very charming lady was canvassing for her husband in a western town, and won a number of votes by the naivete of a remark she made. The Liberal candidate had strongly protested against the interference of ladies in the election; but the lady in question answered from the platform, "Why should any one object? After all, I am only a sleeping partner."

Parties wishing to attend the greatest event of the age, the three champions, heavy-weight, light-weight and feather-weight, who never were beaten in their class, which takes place Sept. 5, 6 and 7, can secure berths at Gates' ticket office, or of John Bastable, No. 5 Bridge street. Train will leave at 11:40 p. m., Sept. 2, and arrive at New Orleans Sunday for dinner. You can secure your tickets for admission to the Olympic also at above named places. Also all required information.

HE COULD NOT GET AWAY.

A weary old man dropped with a sigh into a seat in the street car. At the other end three or four young men were talking and laughing.

"They have just returned from their vacation," said the tired man to his next neighbor.

"They seem to have enjoyed it."

"Yes, they seem to. They work in the same store that I do."

"Ah!"

"Yes. They all have been away now—everybody in the store—clerks, book-keepers and heads of departments, even the cash boys and the wrapping men and the porters. Everybody has had his vacation—but me."

"All but you?"

"Yes."

"Well, I should think your employer would let you off, too."

The old man shook his head.

"What's the reason he won't?"

"Well," replied the weary man, with another sigh, "you see, I'm the proprietor myself."—Harper's Bazar.

HOW BARBERS LEARN SHAVING

Six Months' Apprenticeship to the Hone—Tricks of the Trade That Are Hard to Learn.

"In learning his trade what is the first thing barbers' apprentices are taught to do?" asked a reporter of a Washington street barber recently.

"Well, in many shops they are first taught to lather customers; but more commonly their first instruction is in razor honing. This seems simple enough, but in reality is one of the most difficult tricks of the trade. The apprentice must learn to hold the razor on the hone, and then acquire the motion of twisting it back and forth until properly honed. It is all done by the wrist motion.

"If the beginner has an aptitude for the business he should be able in six months' time to put a razor in first-class order, but many seem to know less the longer they practice.

"From honing razors to lathering, shaving and hair-dressing are steps much easier than the first, but which must be learned by experience. In Europe they sometimes keep a wooden head, on which apprentices practice and learn the curves of the chin.

"In lathering one must be particularly careful not to get the suds into the customer's eyes, ears, etc., and in order to avoid this the apprentice must pay strict attention to his work. After the face is well lathered—the better it is lathered the easier the beard will cut—the novice is taught how to hold and draw the razor.

"This is no easy task. The hand is nervous and shaky, and this is overcome only through constant practice. A beginner is generally set to work shaving another employe in the shop, who is prompt to inform him when he hurts too much, and informs him of the cause. The trouble sometimes arises from an improperly honed or poorly strapped razor, but more often in the way the razor is drawn over the face.

"The apprentice must learn to shave with the grain, and, instead of sliding the razor along in a straight line over the face, to 'draw' it slightly at each stroke, thereby cutting the beard smoothly instead of pulling it out by the roots.

"After the face has been well shaven and attention paid to putting on bay rum or lavender water properly, and the moustache curled, then comes the dressing of the hair, in which particular care should be taken to note the manner in which each customer wishes his hair done up, not to cover his hair with oil before consulting him, or subject them to other unpleasantnesses.

"These are simple things that go to make up our trade, but owing to their simplicity perhaps, more than anything else, they are frequently neglected.

"Many men work out half their time and imagine they are equal to any emergency, even to taking charge of a shop. An apprentice should put in at least two years of good, conscientious work before he can pose as a journeyman. Many set the time even longer.

"But I believe that two years of hard work by a bright beginner will usually turn him out a first-class workman. I say a bright beginner; many require a much longer time than that, while others never can learn.

"The latter seldom serve out their term of apprenticeship. They are the workmen who fill the ears of their customers with a mixture of fairy tales and soapsuds. But customers are not easily deluded into believing them good barbers, even though they have ready tongues.

"The floating element in our trade, those who have nothing to do from one day to another that they can rely on, is composed principally of this I-know-it-all class. They are too intelligent to work.

A HUNGRY MAN'S DREAM.

One of the worst evils attending penal servitude is said to be the hunger which assails a man with a healthy appetite during the first few months or years of his imprisonment. A man who has just done a long term for forgery, says:

"I used to go to bed every night pinched by hunger. I began dreaming of banquets, and would have thought nothing strange about it had not the same dream come to me every night. The banquet was always the same, in the same place, and I always had the same place at the table.

"The exasperating thing about it was that just as the first course was offered I always awoke, so that even in my dreams I was not permitted to taste of the munificent spread which was nightly presented to me in my sleep.

"I dreaded to go to bed because the dream tortured me. It only made me the hungrier, and I then understood the agony of Tantalus, the fabled hero who was tortured with thirst, and to whose lips the waters were ever coming, and receding just as he was in the act of taking a drink."

FRIGHTENED BY A PIANO.

The late Leopold de Meyer of Dresden, a brilliant and popular pianist in his day, was once summoned to play before the sultan at Constantinople. Going thither, he borrowed a grand piano from one of the Austrian secretaries of legation, and had it set up in a large reception-room at the palace.

There he awaited the coming of the sultan; but when that intelligent monarch entered the room, he started back in alarm, and demanded of his attendants what that monster was standing there on three legs.

Explanations followed, but were in vain. The legs had to be taken off, and the body of the instrument laid flat on the floor; and Leopold de Meyer, squatting cross-legged on a mat, went through his program as best he could in that awkward attitude and without pedals.

But the commander of the faithful was delighted, and when the last piece was played gave the artist over $5,000 as "baksheesch."
